SUMMARY

Passionate Junior Fullstack Web Developer with strong foundations in front-end architecture and UI development, backed by growing expertise in React.js and Laravel. Currently pursuing Informatics Engineering at UNESA (GPA 3.74), I've been actively involved in mentoring, live coding sessions, and collaborative fullstack projects—combining technical skills with communication excellence. I enjoy translating complex web concepts into easy, hands-on learning experiences. My focus is on building scalable, responsive, and user-centered web applications, while continuously exploring new technologies in the modern JavaScript and PHP ecosystem.
